To whom it may concern,

Are you having an upcoming event this year that requires some unforgettable musical entertainment? Do you have any rodeos, dances or other functions that may require music to make their event memorable? You don't have to look any further.

FlatBroke is a musical performing duo with a blend of great vocal harmonies and unique musical abilities. We play a mix of classic rock and roll, modern and classic country favorites, and original music. FlatBroke is sure to make your special event a memorable one. We engage audiences with an interactive blend of songs that create instant recognition and connection to a wide range of people. We play the music you remember and the tunes that you thought you forgot and instantly recognize as soon as you hear them.

Playing as a two piece duo with instruments and backing tracks, we can give you the full band sound and show. Depending on your budget, our show can range from a duo with backing tracks, to a 5 or 6 piece live band. In the spring on 2013 we helped the Strathcona Legion keep their door open due to some financial problems by partnering with them in two fundraising events. (See press releases) We released two CD's in 2013. "Release the Reins" is our debut CD featuring tunes from the 60's taking you into 2014. The second one, a gospel CD, in which all the proceeds of the first 400 CD's went to the building fund of the Mewassin Free Methodist Church in Duffield Alberta. We played in Alberta beach on Canada day 2013 and the August long weekend to over 1000 people on the beach. We have played at cooperate events such as the Rona Spruce Grove Christmas party and finished off the year with a New Year's Eve bash in Grande Cache. In 2014 we showcased at the Alberta AG society convention in Edmonton to a well-received crowd, played at the Peace River AG society and the Millarville rodeo. In 2015 we played at a variety of different venues throughout Alberta including the Strathmore Rodeo where we were the headliners on the August long weekend.

When you are having a summer BBQ, family reunion, birthday, rodeo or any other function that requires extraordinary music, give FlatBroke a call.

Included in this package, is a short demo disc for you to listen to, biographies from the band, a sample of our contract, a sample poster, reference letters and our contact information.

Please feel free to pass this information on to others who may require a high energy performance duo that is booking your facility.

I look forward to talking with you soon.

SHAWN SAUNDERS

Bass, Harmonica, Vocals, Producer

Hailing from Fredericton New Brunswick, Shawn Saunders started doing sound for bands and recording with local bands on Community TV while in high school. The thoughts of playing bass kept popping into his head so he purchased that first bass guitar at age 37. Dedicated to learning the bass and being in a band like his uncle, he learned the basics quickly and started using his vocal abilities as well. Shawn eventually joined a band that became FlatBroke and later Flat Broke II. After moving to Alberta in 2006, Shawn played with the Muskeg River Band, Emo Leblanc, Paul LePage, and joined forces with Bonni MacDonald to create the current version of FlatBroke.

Shawn's influences include The Eagles, Fleetwood Mac, RUSH, Captain Morgan, Stephen Little, and Brad Paisley.

Backline / Stage plot

Please refer to Shawn Saunders for all technical questions.
780-267-2608 or shawn@flatbroke.ca

Ideal stage size is 10' x 16'

Since we are a duo who plays with backing tracks and instruments, FlatBroke travels with its own sound rig mixing system for FOH and monitors. We can provide left and right audio signals to the venue's sound system if necessary. For smaller venues, FlatBroke provides basic stage lighting, and an array of various cables and power cords. We can provide pre-recorded background music during breaks.

If the venue is providing sound reinforcement, the band can also provide individual instrument outputs from our sound rig instead of the final mix. We prefer to use our Bose system for stage sound (monitor) and will mix our stage sound ourselves through our rig. All sound outputs will be line level 1/4" unbalanced outputs. We recommend using DI's from each output for long runs to the venue's mixer (typically 8 DI's will be required). Outputs are as follows:

Equipment list (backline)

- 1 Bose tower
 - 1 Fender bass amp with DI output on XLR
 - 1 Samson wireless for Bass Amp with DI
 - 1 Sure SM58 wired microphones XLR
 - 1 Sure SM58 wireless microphone with mono 1/4" jack or XLR
 - 1 Roland Juno DI keyboard with stereo 1/4" jack
 - 1 Fiddle DI box with XLR output
 - 1 Stereo (L/R) output from Laptop (2 x 1/4" jack")
- Various personal audio monitors as required.

(Front line)

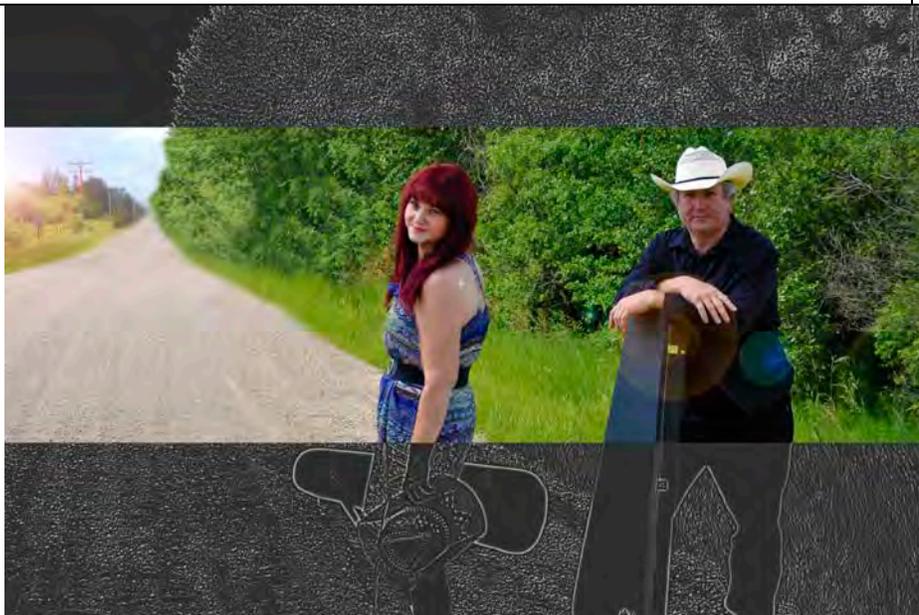

- 2 powered Peavey 15" 400W cabinet
- 2 unpowered 15" passive cabinet
- 2 powered Peavey 18" sub-woofer cabinet

Additional information:

We use foot pedals to control our backing tracks on the laptop. Video monitors tied into the laptop for our use. Depending on the stage layout, we may use small 18" video monitors on music stands or larger floor video mounted monitors.

The Grande Cache Métis Nation Centre is a non-profit organization that host various functions in our facility.

On November 23, 2013 we had a dinner and dance with the Flat Broke band in performance.

This band played a variety of dance music. The people in the attendance really enjoyed the evening, many asked that we bring back this band for other functions.

I have no hesitation in recommending this band for dances and corporate events.

Re: FlatBroke Reference

The Millarville Rodeo Committee contracted FlatBroke to entertain at the 18th Annual Rodeo which took place August 1 – 3, 2014.

Our committee, as well as our rodeo spectators were very pleased with the calibre of entertainment that FlatBroke was able to provide for our event. The musical entertainment was exceptional, and was a great fit for those that attended our event. Their set up, lights & sound equipment was wonderful.

All members of the band were very accommodating, and interacted professionally with those who were participating in the weekend's rodeo activities. Additionally, upon request Bonni sang our national anthem for two of our rodeo performances during our grand entry rides.

If you are considering hiring FlatBroke for any of your upcoming events, they would come highly recommended from the Millarville Rodeo Committee. And we look forward to working with their crew again for future events.

This letter is in reference to the wonderful and entertaining members forming the band Flat Broke. This engaging 5 piece band recently performed for our office Christmas Social function on December 7, 2013, to a crowd of 60 fun hungry staff.

I am beyond pleased with the evening's entertainment. The band was tasteful, fun, warm and engaging and SO fantastic to listen to.

Our background music was topical, and appealed to all our staff in every age group. Their musical talents were well received and I am still receiving accolades on their behalf. We found that there was a good mix and a great atmosphere.

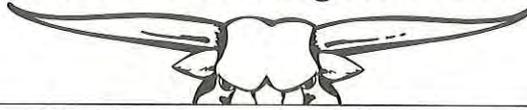

We will consider inviting these talented musicians to play for us again in the future. I hope you are as pleased as we were with their diversity and professionalism...and their suburb talents!

Local artist gives back through song

By Claire Theobald, Edmonton Examiner

Local vocalist Bonni MacDonald is using her musical gifts to give back to the church and community that welcomed her in by donating the proceeds from her first solo album The Gift.

“It was a dream of mine. I never thought it would happen,” said MacDonald. “To be able to do it for such a great cause is very heartwarming.”

Bonni MacDonald, who said she has been singing since childhood, has performed in venues in and around the Edmonton area for years. After moving to Duffield, she says the Mewassin Free Methodist Church went above and beyond to welcome her into their community.

“If you’re a stranger, you set foot in that door of the church and there’s always someone there to welcome you,” said MacDonald.

“You really feel part of it right from the very first time.”

Still housed in the original structure built in 1936, the parish is quickly outgrowing its 50-seat capacity, and hopes to construct a new 4,000-sq.-ft. church and youth centre on the same property so it can continue to welcome new members.

“It’s something that a lot of people have put a lot of hard work into and I really want to see it happen,” said MacDonald.

The Gift was created as a way to raise funds for the church, with MacDonald and nine other musicians all donating their time and talent to put together the album.

Inspired by old country legends like Johnny Cash and Marty Robbins, this gospel album incorporates some of MacDonald’s country flair.

All profits from the sale of the first 500 CDs will be donated directly to the church’s building fund.

“This is my gift to the church,” said MacDonald, “my way of contributing and my way of giving back for all of the kindness and everything that everyone there has shown me.”

Now in the final stages of development, The Gift will be first available at their release party on Friday, May 31, at Duffield Hall on First Street in Duffield, Alberta.

The event will feature a dinner, dance, live performance and silent auction, with all of those proceeds going straight to the church development fund.

“Being able to do this is a very rewarding feeling,” MacDonald said, “and I’m very, very happy to do it.”

Tickets are available for pre-sale by phoning MacDonald at 780-666-5407.

FlatBroke makes sure Legion won't go broke and celebrates CD release

By Thomas Miller, Spruce Grove Examiner/Stony Plain Reporter

Parkland County-based band FlatBroke will perform at the Strathcona Legion on Oct. 12. - Photo Supplied

Local band FlatBroke is heading into Edmonton for a show on Oct. 12 in order to help out the Strathcona Legion.

The Parkland County-based group performed at that legion when it was going through some rough times in order to bring in some business and help the legion stay alive so it can, in turn, help the veterans in the area.

FlatBroke performs mostly classic favourites like Mustang Sally, Margaritaville and These Boots are Made for Walking, which makes their setlist perfect for the demographic at the legion.

So after their successful show a few months ago, they're heading back to that very legion to celebrate and hold a CD release party in conjunction with the legion's Oktoberfest celebration.

"They were in dire straits and potentially closing," said Bonni MacDonald, lead singer, about why they got involved with the Strathcona Legion. "We weren't sure if they were going to be able to pull things out. So we came up with an event for them.

"It was wonderful, it allowed them to keep their doors open.

"We've always liked what the legion stands for and the legion seems to be a clientele that we like to play to, who enjoy our music."

Shawn Saunders, the band's bass player added that the importance of the legion cannot be understated because of what they do for our veterans.

"As far as we know, just about every legion across the country (is in trouble). I can say that the one in Oromocto, New Brunswick is going in fine style, because the last time I was there the place was packed," said Saunders with a laugh as he comes from New Brunswick himself.

"When you think of veterans you think of the old guys in World War II, but veterans are the guys over there right now. What they've done in the past is what allows us to do what we do — whatever we want. When we see that legions all over Canada are having a hard time staying open because the older veterans are dying off and their memberships are down."

That includes Stony Plain, they added, and they will be holding an event at the Stony Plain Legion in December in order to support the local legion, as well, so keep an eye out for that, they said.

For more information on FlatBroke's concert at the Strathcona Legion in Edmonton, give the legion a call at 780-433-1908.

For $20, you get the German supper, a drink and a ticket to the dance featuring FlatBroke. Tickets at the door will be $25. The show starts at 6 p.m. on Oct. 12.

Lack of support could mean another closure of Royal Canadian Legion branch: president article

Another Royal Canadian Legion is facing possible closure if it can't find a way to attract support — but some are refusing to go without a fight.

“The veterans are the ones that started this all off and that’s what we’re there for, to serve the veterans,” said Bob Power, president of the Royal Canadian Legion Strathcona Branch 595.

Power comes from a military family — his grandfather served in the First World War and both his parents served in the Second World War — but he is a member of that group of legion supporters who hasn't worn a uniform.

He said he owes it to people like his parents to try and keep the legion alive.

“If it wasn’t for them, I don’t think our country would be like it is today,” he said. “If we don’t realize what they’ve done for us, there’s no point of living in Edmonton.”

Unfortunately, there is a present-day financial war to be waged.

Power said at the beginning of 2012, the Strathcona branch had a reserve fund of $250,000 in GICs, savings from when they owned a large piece of land on 81 Avenue near 104 Street. But he said someone signed a lease for the building they are now in at 91 Street and 51 Avenue that is costing $15,000 a month in rent. They now have $50,000 left.

“They left me with a mess,” Power said, adding the support has waned along with the funds. They have 347 members, down from almost 900 two years ago.

A recent executive meeting voted not to leave, despite the very real threat of losing their charter if they declare bankruptcy.

The Strathcona branch is not the first to experience this kind of financial stress. Decreasing numbers across the country have led to many branches disbanding and others having to move to smaller buildings.

“The problem you’ve got is the legion itself doesn’t seem to attract many of the recent soldiers,” said Ret. Maj. David Haas. “This is why the legions are in trouble. But of course, you don’t have the huge wave of ex-servicemen.”

Haas has been a legion member in past but now connects with the country’s military past by volunteering at the Loyal Edmonton Regiment Museum. He said it is important for veterans to have a place to find camaraderie after their service has ended.

“The wartime experience particularly put a lot of stress on people and later they needed to talk with guys who could understand that,” said Haas.

Power still has hope that the legion will survive but said it depends on finding more support from Edmontonians. To attract that support, the legion is holding a steak and lobster dinner and dance May 25. Tickets are $30 and include food and a live band.

ROYAL CANADIAN LEGIONS BECOMING EXTINCT

EDMONTON, AB, May 22, 2013-Edmonton's second oldest legion; The Strathcona legion will be holding a steak and lobster dinner and dance on May 25, 2013 in hopes to rejuvenate interest in the legion and to stop the proposed closure of the branch at the end of May.

Along with Norwood and Leduc branches, the Strathcona legion is experiencing diminishing membership and low public support along with high operation costs making it impossible to continue to operate.

In 1944 a metal Quonset hut served as the temporary Strathcona Legion for several years until construction of the more permanent location was completed in 1952 at 81 avenue west of 104 street.

In 2003, forced to relocate from its historical building by low membership and rising operation costs, the Strathcona Legion secured a new location on the northeast corner of 91 Street and 51 Avenue.

The Royal Canadian Legion is an organization that serves veterans and promotes remembrance across Canada and the world. The Legion is open for membership to all Canadian citizens and members of the Commonwealth. The legion is open to all members and their guests, as well as members of the general public who wish to visit.

The Strathcona legion hopes the upcoming dinner and dance featuring popular local band FlatBroke will generate renewed interest in legions and their importance to all Canadians.
